ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, MONDAY, MAY 13, 1918.

ALEXANDRIA GETS LIBERTY LOAN HONOR FLAG

Handsome Emblem Won by Oversubscribing the Third Liberty Loan Quota
Swung to the Breeze on Saturday Evening at Corner of King and Washington Streets.

The city of Alexandria received the Honor Flag which it won by oversubscribing its Third Liberty Loan quota, on Saturday afternoon, and it was promptly swung out to the breeze at the corner of King and Washington streets. The flag has three red bars running through the center and a red border.

The local committee very naturally takes a just pride in the fact that Alexandria's citizens responded so generously in subscribing for the bonds. It was a good work well done.

The complete returns from Alexandria city and county show that the total sales were $483,300. Of that amount Alexandria purchased $452,150 and Alexandria county $31,150, which was $163,400 "over the top" for the two sections. The city went over its allotment by $152,250 and the county by $11,150.

There were about twenty thousand other communities throughout the entire country which received similar flags.

CHILDREN WIN PRIZES.

Audubon Clubs' Exhibit Attracts Much Attention and Favorable Comment from Hundreds of Visitors.

The exhibit made by the three Audubon Clubs of the city at the auditorium of the Alexandria High School last week under the direction of Misses Douglas, McCorkle and Beattie, assisted by other teachers, proved a gratifying success. It attracted hundreds of visitors and many favorable comments were expressed concerning the excellence of the exhibits. Interesting talks were given each afternoon by Miss Katherine Stuart, who was for many years the field agent of the National Audubon society.

Prizes were given by the Civic Department of the Alexandria Junior Red Cross for the best bird boxes and drawings. First prize for bird box was awarded to Dallas Wiley, teacher Miss Douglas; second prize to Kermit Smith, teacher, Miss Beattie; Community box, Richard Wright, teacher, Mrs. Strauss, all of the Washington street school.

The prizes for the best drawings, Washington street school, were given as follows: First, to Ralph Wade, teacher, Mrs. Strauss; second to Ray Mander, teacher, Miss Douglas. Honorable mention was given to Theima Bender, of the Lee school, teacher, Mrs. Greenan.

Prizes offered by teachers were awarded as follows: Third grade, Clayton Wood, teacher, Miss Douglas; fourth grade, John Chauncey, teacher, Miss Beattie; fifth grade, Robert Whitton, teacher, Miss McCorkle.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo D. Miner, of the District of Columbia Audubon society, were judges of the bird boxes and Miss Fannie Burke of the drawings. A case of frogs and lizards, loaned by Dr. J. H. Bitzer, was the center of attraction to many and the rare collection of moths and butterflies from Dr. Bitzer, Mr. Strauss and Richard Wright gave equal delight.

Recitations and songs by the children were interspersed in the program to the pleasure of all who were present at the exercises.

TAX ON INTANGIBLES.

Moore Warns Local Boards That Money in Bank That Is Subject to Check Must be Returned.

A communication was mailed out yesterday to all commissioners of revenue by State Auditor C. Lee Moore, urging upon them the importance of complying with the law which requires them, not later than June 1, to deliver to the local board of review the interrogatories of taxpayers relating to tangible and intangible personal property, money and income. Copies of the letter were also sent to the examiners of records and to the local boards of review.

"Whilst considerable progress has been made," said the letter, "under existing laws in taxation of money in this State, full and complete returns are not yet made, and many of the taxpayers think that a checking bank account is not taxable. They are mistaken. Such money is taxable. Money which is not taxable under the laws of this State as money at the hands of persons on the $100 is money which is regularly used by a merchant in his business as a merchant, or money actively and regularly used by a manufacturer, or other person taxed upon capital."

The salute was fired at the grave and taps sounded. Interment was in Ivy Hill cemetery and was private.

WILL ELECT SIX BISHOPS

First Ballot at the Methodist Conference Will Take Place Tuesday.

Atlanta, Ga., May 13.—Thirty-five million dollars for home and foreign missions will be raised in the next five years by the Methodist Episcopal church, South. The report of the committee on findings of the missionary centenary recommending that this amount be raised at the rate of $7,000,000 annually was approved by the quadrennial general conference in session here Saturday. The proposed budget is the largest in the history of the church. One of the most important items in the budget is $5,400,000 for home missions. Of this amount $750,000 will be spent for religious and social service work among the mountain population of the South.

It is proposed to spend $90,000 for foreign work, $500,000 for negro work and $140,000 for Indian work. The budget asks that $1,500,000 be used for mission plants and operations in the cities of the south. It is proposed to spend $50,000 a year in Birmingham, Memphis, Atlanta, Nashville and Oklahoma City. Other cities in the South are also adequately provided for. New Orleans, St. Louis and Louisville are each to receive $50,000 a year. The committee recommends that $150,000 be used for the extension of the textile industrial institute at Spartanburg, S. C.

The conference voted to elect six new bishops to the church. The first ballot will take place Tuesday morning. The recommendation of the committee on temperance and social service that congress be requested to take favorable and "speedy action" on the bill providing for prohibition for Hawaii was unanimously adopted.

Through Mr. Edgar Warfield, the Gazette learns that one of the principal speakers at a big Liberty Loan drive meeting held in Boston at the close of the recent campaign, was a former resident of Alexandria, now Captain W. T. Cluverius, of the United States Navy. The clipping from a Boston newspaper which was enclosed in a letter to Mr. Warfield, says Captain Cluverius is one of the finest orators in the navy. He is a son of Mr. Watt Tyler Cluverius, who will be remembered by the older residents of the city. Captain Cluverius is in command of one of Uncle Sam's big dreadnaughts.

Several Fail to Notify the Clerk of the Court of Their Intention to Enter Contest June 11.

RED CROSS MEETING AT EPISCOPAL HIGH SCHOOL

Nearly One Thousand Dollars Subscribed Toward the Fund to be Raised in Fairfax County—Excellent Speeches Delivered by Representative A. J.

Montague, Major Miller, of the British Embassy, and Honorable R. Walton Moore.

A large and influential meeting in the interests of the third Red Cross drive was held yesterday evening in Liggett Hall, of the Episcopal High School, near this city, at 4 o'clock. Its special object was to call the attention of the seminary and high school, the residents of "the Hill" and the adjacent country to their part of the full amount allotted to Fairfax county, which, outside of the town of Fairfax, is $4,000. There is no doubt that this amount will be oversubscribed.

This meeting had the good fortune to have as its speakers the Hon. A. J. Montague, Congressman from Virginia and ex-Governor of the state; Major Miller, of the British embassy, in Washington, a brave Canadian officer of Vimy Ridge fame, and the Hon. R. Walton Moore, the chairman of the Fairfax Chapter of the American Red Cross. These occupied seats on the platform, together with Principal A. R. Hoxtin, of the Episcopal High School, and Major Ransom, a Confederate veteran.

The Hon. R. Walton Moore, as chairman of the Fairfax branch, introduced the speakers in an eloquent and rousing speech, referring to old high school boys who were now doing able work in important positions connected with the Government and the war. He also emphasized the one aim and one fixed duty of this country and our allies who have so far borne the burden to overcome Germany autocracy and tyranny by resolute fighting to the finish and now this country has a large part in this noble work.

Mayor Miller followed and in his simply told, but impressive, address told of surpassing value of the Red Cross untiring workers and its splendid equipment for the care and comfort of the wounded behind the lines in France extending to the fine hospitals further back in the towns and cities. Without the work of the Red Cross the high morale of the troops would weaken and the war could not be won. Besides it gave a blessed assurance to fathers and mothers and friends at home that their dear boys at the front, when wounded, were sure of the untiring care and attention of the devoted Red Cross workers.

Ex-Gov. Montague, with his well-known eloquence and convincing logic, gave one of the most telling statements of the causes that led the United States Government to declare war against Germany on the 6th of April, 1917. The duty of this Government to defend its honor and to break the power of the world-tyrant was clear, the war was a righteous one.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Prof. Crawford. The amount subscribed was about a thousand dollars, showing the enthusiasm awakened in the audience. There were a number of the residents of Alexandria present at this most successful rally of the Red Cross.

AWARDS FATHER $3,000.

Circuit Court Jury at Danville Returns That Sum for Death of Son.

Danville, Va., May 13.—A Circuit Court jury late Saturday night returned a verdict granting J. R. Adams $3,000 damages against the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company for the death by wrongful act of his son six months ago. Adams asked for $10,000 and an appeal was noted, stating the child was watching telephone linemen stringing wire when a rope snapped and a heavy pulley struck the lad. The defense showed the jury a complicated model representing the scene and the work in progress at the time of the accident.

DIES FROM INJURIES.

Nicholas Brown, of Lincoln, Dead, and Two Others Seriously Hurt in Automobile Accident Today.

Nicholas Brown, aged 50, died this morning at the Alexandria hospital as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident, which happened four miles south of this city at 6:45 this morning, near the Wilson farm on what is known as the River road.

Eight men were on a big three-ton Government truck, on their way to work at Camp Humphreys. As they were about to go down a hill the driver reached forward to put on the brake and in doing so the big truck is supposed to have gotten out of his control and plunged into the bank at the side of the road. Mr. Brown, who was riding on the running board on the side, was caught between the machine and the bank, and crushed so badly that he was brought to the hospital, where he died a short time later. He resided near Lincoln and is survived by his wife and five children. His body was subsequently removed to Wheatley's undertaking rooms.

Coroner T. M. Jones subpoenaed the following jury: John H. Trimyer, Kenneth W. Ogden, Walter L. Gahan, Norman Robert, V. Ward Boswell and Andrew G. Sullivan, which viewed the body this afternoon at 2 o'clock and adjourned further hearing until Friday night next at 8:15.

Mr. Brown's son, Bernard, who was also a passenger on the truck, was badly hurt. He is now at the Alexandria hospital, as is also John Brady, another man, who is said to be seriously injured. Another man was bruised up slightly.

Alleged Disorderly House on Henry Street Raided Saturday Night and Inmates Arrested.

The police in the western section of the city have recently kept their eyes upon a house on Henry street, and Saturday night they made a descent upon the place. They found Mary Miller and William Graham cohabiting together, and they were taken in charge, together with the woman of the house, Martha Miller, mother of Mary. The parties were arraigned in the Police Court this morning, the mother to answer the charge of conducting a disorderly house and her daughter and Graham that of lascivious conduct. The officers failed to prove that the house was of a disorderly nature under the law, and Martha Miller was dismissed, but her daughter and her friend were sent to jail for ninety days. The defendants were represented by Robinson Moncreux.

"MOTHERS' DAY."

Tons of letters were written yesterday—Mothers' Day—by American soldiers in France to their mothers. Thousands of others, still in training camps in this country, also sent letters or cards to their anxious mothers.

Ministers in most of the churches in this country delivered special sermons on "Mothers' Day" yesterday. The resident clergy of Alexandria delivered addresses appropriate to the occasion. Alexander the Great when called upon to decide among the gymnastics said all did well. The same may be said of our ministers.

"Mothers' Day" has long since become an institution, not only in America, but in other lands also. The white rose in the buttonhole shows that the woman who gave life to the wearer has gone to her great reward; the red that she is still bearing her burdens in the land of the living.

About a third of a century ago, when "Mother's Day" was unknown, Rev. Dr. Guernsey, who happened to be in Alexandria at the time, spoke in the Second Presbyterian Church of this city. During the delivery of his sermon he incidentally referred to the quiet and patient work of woman. Among other things he said: "Were I requested to select specimens of true Christian character to whom do you suppose I would go? To the George Peabodys, George Mullers and others who have erected poor houses or other institutions for the benefit of the human race, or those who have founded libraries and other resorts? Not at all. I would enter some Christian congregation like this and select certain gray-haired mothers and grandmothers, whose lives are hidden in Christ; women unknown to the world, and unknown among the various organizations which are laboring for the advancement of their sex. I would pick out Godly females who have battled against poverty, wept over the castles of their little ones as well as those of grandchildren, whose locks have been bleached by the snow of many winters. In the up-hill walk of years they have risen superior to their trials and tribulations, never forsaking their Saviour, and who have shown themselves faithful in their duties towards God and man. They will be the disciples to whom it will be said, 'Well done, good and faithful servants.' While their locks may now be as the 'almond tree that flourishes,' at that great court of assizes each hair will sparkle as a diamond."

WAR BRINGS BLESSINGS.

The entry of the United States into the world war has done much to cool heated blood, which too often manifests itself in the struggle of party against party. Virginia is following a noble ideal when the only requisite of a public servant in the Old Dominion is for him to show his loyalty to his country. Mr. Slomp will have no democratic competitor this year, as his patriotism is unquestioned, and the people of his district, Democrats as well as Republicans, are loth to change representatives at this critical juncture in our country's history. For reasons best known to themselves some people in the Eighth Congressional district favor a change in our Congressional representative. This class is far in the minority, however, and the present occupant of the position, Hon. C. C. Carlin, enjoying the confidence of the great majority of both political parties, will, of course, succeed himself. The fight in the Eighth district is unfortunate from the fact that it is a family contest, Mr. Carlin's would-be successor being a Democrat, while the Republicans have refrained from antagonizing him at this time.

While politically the war has brought about more conservative conditions, the fact that religious issues find only contracted places in the world at present affords pleasant reading.

The London Chronicle says one hears much nowadays about the growing reaction of the churches which the war has brought about. But a dual service which recently took place at the front is probably unique.

Not far behind the lines two services were held simultaneously in the village church—the one being the usual Roman Catholic service attended by the inhabitants—while the other was a Protestant one for a battalion of Australians "resting" in the vicinity.

The proceedings opened by the singing of a hymn by the Australians to music supplied by their own band. Then the French cure addressed his flock, after which it was the turn of the Protestants—and so on—each congregation taking it in turn until the service was concluded.

PEACE TAKEN FROM THE EARTH

When the Republic of Nicaragua formally declared war upon Germany and Austria the twentieth nation of the world arrayed itself against the central powers and dedicated itself to the cause of the allies. Less than a dozen autonomous governments now remain neutral, even including Russia and her subdivisions.

Only a very few nations on the western hemisphere have maintained their neutrality. Spain, Holland, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway and Sweden among the governments of Europe are still on a friendly basis with both groups of belligerents, but practically all of Asia, practically all of Africa, all of North America save Mexico and most of Latin-America has taken sides one way or the other.

Until the United States went into the war the independent nations of this hemisphere kept aloof from the conflict. Most of them had grievances against Germany and the rights of all of them were ignored in the ruthless submarine campaign which Germany inaugurated. But it remained for America to take the lead in defense of the lives and property of North and South American peoples.

Six American nations are now active belligerents. This country's declaration of war upon Germany on April 6, 1917, was followed the next day by similar declarations on the part of Cuba and Panama. Four days later Brazil severed diplomatic relations with Germany and on October 26 declared war upon that country. Guatemala on April 27 severed relations with Germany and declared war upon her on April 21. The action of Guatemala strongly influenced Nicaragua, which country on May 8 issued a flat declaration of war and ordered the mobilization of her army.

In addition to the twenty nations now warring upon the central powers, twelve more have broken all friendly relations with those governments which is the last step before definite belligerency is assumed. A large majority of these nations are in Central and South America and every one took the step in a spirit of support of the United States.

PEOPLE OF HEART WIN WARS

"A people with its heart up wins war; a people with its heart down loses them." In these words a contemporary outlines a duty.

Depression, especially manifest depression, is in a broad sense the best kind of German propaganda. The enemy is an expert in heart depressants. He has his laboratories working overtime in this country to turn out the wares that he is so skilled in making.

Laymen who do not understand military situations see in every enemy gain in the field the sure defeat of four great nations that in the end of things and in the nature of things cannot be defeated so long as the heart beats for the fight. Do not let the news of the day, which is seldom the news of the morrow, beat the heart down, lest others become discouraged and the enemy who, unhappily, is with us may rejoice.

Every downcast American means an "upcast" German. Keep the heart and the countenance lifted. There is no reason for a downward look nor for skipping a heartbeat. Americans on this side are in this war today as they never have been in it before. The victory is certain. Look cheerful and tend to your knitting. The soldiers will look cheerful and tend to their shooting.

There never was a Hun lived who in a ten or twenty round fight could lick a Yankee, an Englishman, a Scot, a Welshman, a Frenchman or an Italian. The fight is going ten or more rounds. It is "through the ropes" for the Hun at the end. There is nothing to make the heart slow down. Keep it up and be fresh for the glorious finish.

WAR ON RATS

The yearly damage to food by rats, in England alone, is estimated at $200,000,000, according to a cautionary notice just issued to farmers by a government committee. The latter urges a ruthless offensive against the rat.

At a moderate estimate, the English countryside is feeding one rat per head of the total population of these islands and ten rats will eat, apart from what they spoil, as much grain as you and your wife consume.

A similar war on rodents might be inaugurated in the United States, where their devastations are so great.

The rat is not a native of America. When early settlers came to our continent neither rats nor cockroaches could anywhere be found. Later they began to arrive here on ships from Europe. At first they were of the black English species, not as fierce as the common brown rat. The latter, which came here from Norway, although supposed to have invaded Norway from the East Indies, soon subdued the black rat. These rodents are extensive travelers. They board ships which they leave upon reaching port. They are prolific, being able to reproduce themselves when four months old. They have from three to five litters in a year, and bring forth an average of ten at a time. Twenty-three have, however, been found in one nest.

TABLE TURNED ON U-BOAT

Pirate Confronted by Crew of Vessel Sunk Shortly Before.

The satisfaction of seeing a U-boat commander in a prison camp three days after he has torpedoed your vessel and left you in a lifeboat far from shore is a sensation that comes to few sea captains. Yet this unique experience befell the skipper and the crew of the Japanese steamship Ausabe Mura.

A little more than a month ago the Ausabe Mura was being conveyed with several other freight ships of various nationalities through the Mediterranean when she was compelled to drop behind owing to engine trouble. Being confident of her safety the other vessels proceeded while the crew of the Jap made the necessary repairs.

They were just disappearing on the horizon and the Ausabe Mura was about to get under way when the periscope of a submarine appeared off the starboard bow. A torpedo was launched, striking the freighter amidships. An S. O. S. was sent out and the officers and crew abandoned the ship.

A short time afterward the submarine came to the surface not far from the lifeboats, the officers and men climbing out of the conning tower to survey the damage. The ship by this time had a heavy list, but there were no prospects of her going to the bottom for some time, so a boat was sent out from the submarine with several of the crew who were to place bombs in the Ausabe Mura.

While this was being done an officer in one of the lifeboats, who knew German, appealed to the commander, presumably an Austrian, asking whether he wouldn't tow the lifeboats a little nearer to land. This was curtly refused by the captain, who explained that the Japs had no business in that part of the world, that they should remain in the Pacific.

Three days after this adventure the first officer of the ship was in Genoa when he was informed that a submarine with her officers and crew had been captured by a Japanese destroyer and that they were in a prison in that city. Perhaps it was just out of curiosity that he went to the camp to see these pirates with whom he already had considerable experience. At any rate he went and to his great surprise he found the commander of the U-boat who had sunk the Ausabe Mura.

In one of his first remarks he told the captain that he certainly had no business in that part of the world. The U-boat commander was indeed fortunate. The submarine itself is usually the prison when it is sunk, for few ever are lucky enough to survive, he informed the Austrian. The officer wanted to say considerable more, but the Italian guards could see no occasion for it.—N. Y. Evening Sun.

HOLLAND FORCED TO ACCEDE

Faced Hun Guns, So Kaiser Won Late Demands.

London, May 13.—That Holland was forced to accede to the demands of Germany is borne out by the stories told by German soldiers on the Dutch frontier, according to a Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam.

The correspondent quotes the soldiers as stating that, if an actual dispute had developed with Holland, it would have led to a conflict. The German plan, according to the soldiers, was immediately to advance into Dutch Flanders, and occupy the bank of the Scheldt river.

Thousands of troops were held in readiness at different points on the frontier. Eighty thousand men were concentrated at Ghent, Belgium, including cavalry and artillery.

Vessels armed with guns also were at Ghent ready to steam into the canal leading to Yerseme, Terneuzen. Terneuzen, or Neuzen, is a fortified seaport of Holland, on the southern arm of the Scheldt.

HOLDS ARETHUSA RESPONSIBLE

Judge Edmund Waddill Rules That Ship Caused Series of Collisions.

Norfolk, Va., May 13.—In the Federal Court Saturday, Judge Edmund Waddill rendered a decision ending a case which has been pending for nearly three years, and in which he held the U. S. S. Arethusa responsible for a series of collisions in Hampton Roads on October 18, 1916, in which the British steamer Hesperon was so badly damaged she had to be kept afloat by tugs, to a drydock, sunk one large and seriously damaged another.

The evidence showed that the Arethusa first rammed the Hesperon at anchor in the Roads, and in attempting to back away fouled the two barges Emerald and Cossie in tow of the tug Gwalia. The Emerald was sunk and the Cossie had to be beached.

The amount of the damages, to be paid by the government and which must finally receive legislative approval, will be fixed by a maritime commission. The government fought the case on the ground that the Hesperon was loading a cargo of munitions, in violation of harbor regulations, but the court ruled against the claim, declaring the evidence showed that the actual loading of the cargo was not in progress.

FRANCE HONORS MOTHERS.

Marshal Joffre Presides At Paris Celebration.

Paris, May 13.—Marshal Joffre presided yesterday at a meeting of the French Homes Society to celebrate Mothers' Day. French newspapers are giving publicity to Mothers' Day and are urging that the French Army follow the example of the Americans in this respect.

The meeting was attended by many American, French and other Allied officers. Marshal Joffre was cheered loudly. He opened the meeting with a brief speech in which he referred to the splendid effort of the United States in the war. He said the purpose of the society was to open French homes to American boys and far as possible to give them the comforts they had left behind.

Prof. Henri Bergson, of the University of Paris, made an address in which he spoke of the accomplishments of the American Army and people in the war for liberation of the world.

BOTTLE UP THE SUB BASES.

German Dredge Boat Sunk Between Two Obsolete Cruisers in the Fairway.

London, May 13.—The bottling up of the German submarine base at Zeebrugge has been made complete by the effective work of the British airmen on Sunday.

Bombs were dropped at the entrance to the harbor, directly hitting and sinking a German dredge boat between two obsolete cruisers that had formerly been sunk in the fairway.

Photographs taken by British airmen show that the basins of the Bruges canal are crowded with German craft of all descriptions. They have been prevented from continuing their voyages because of the blocking of the entrance of the Ostend and Zeebrugge harbors.

The dredge was attempting to dig a hole beneath the sunken British cruisers Iphigenia and Intrepid, into which they would fall when blown up.

JOHN B. DAISH IS DEAD.

Widely Known Washington Lawyer Succumbs to Uraemic.

Washington, May 13.—John B. Daish, a prominent Washington attorney, and an authority on interstate commerce law, who handled practically all of the big rate cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission for Baltimore commercial interests, died suddenly Saturday from uraemic poisoning after an illness of six hours.

Mr. Daish was born at Quincy, Mich., in 1867, and with his parents moved to Manassas when he was a boy. He came to Washington several years later.

Mr. Daish had written a number of books on Interstate Commerce Law. Two of these, "Procedure in the Interstate Commerce Commission," and "Atlantic port differential," are widely used.

SLAYS HIS BRIDE.

Tragedy Ends Quarrels Dating Almost From Wedding Day.

Johnstown, Pa., May 13.—The brief matrimonial career of Mr. and Mrs. George Kirkenbush, which began with their marriage last Christmas and had been a series of domestic quarrels since that time, ended suddenly yesterday afternoon when Kirkenbush, aged 20, shot and killed his wife, aged 17, at the home of her father, Harry G. Fisher where they had been living since their wedding.

Kirkenbush fired three shots one bullet striking his wife behind one ear and penetrating the brain and the other entering a shoulder. The woman died while she was being carried into the Memorial Hospital. The husband is under arrest.

It Don't Taste Good

That's the child's complaint of most medicine and no amount of argument as to the good the medicine will do gets over the complaint.

It's natural for a child to like milk, but if milk "don't taste good" you can hardly blame the child for disliking it.

Milk will absorb odors more quickly than almost any other substance. If a cow barn does not smell good, the milk will not taste good.

The cow barns at Featherstone are kept perfectly sweet and clean, and this, together with the careful feeding, produces milk which tastes good.

Lots of children, who think ordinary milk "don't taste good" like and drink Featherstone Milk.

Try your children on it.

I. W. W. WAR "VISION" SHOWN

Document Read Into Record at Chicago Trial.

Chicago, May 13.—At adjournment Saturday night of the trial of 112 Industrial Workers of the World, charged with seditious conspiracy, the Government had virtually completed introduction of printed matter seized during raids last year on Industrial Workers of the World headquarters in half a score of cities throughout the United States. Monday, it was announced, the prosecution plans to read into the record matter from the private correspondence files of the leaders of the organization, seized during the same raids.

The story of a "vision" which came to Harrison George, defendant, and which pictured President Wilson and his Cabinet in flight while the Industrial Workers of the World rose up as saviors of the world, was read into the record at Saturday's session by counsel for the Government. It is charged that the narrative, of which the vision is the theme, was given wide circulation during last summer as a part of the war propaganda with which members of the organization are charged. In the vision, America's industrial structure was pictured as tumbling like a house of blocks as the result of Industrial Workers of the World sabotage against great producing plants.

Government attorneys declare the article was in effect a promise of results that would be obtained if the "war against the war" was properly conducted.

As late as September 1, just before the Government's nation-wide raid, the membership was informed through solidarity that "the future now belongs to labor, and no power on earth can make it otherwise."

"The sky is bright with the red morning of freedom. Time will prove that more history was made in Bisbee, Ariz., and Butte, Mont., than in all the shell-swept hills of France," the paper asserted.

GOOLRICK FOR CONGRESS.

He is Ambitious to Succeed the Late Representative W. A. Jones.

Fredericksburg, Va., May 13.—At the Democratic convention to be held at Newport News for the first Congressional district on May 28, to name a candidate to fill out the unexpired term of the late Representative Jones, the name of State Senator C. O'Connor Goolrick, of Fredericksburg, will be presented. Senator Goolrick will also be a candidate in the August primary when the candidate will be named for the full term beginning March 4, 1919. His friends in this section feel that Senator Goolrick has a splendid chance of winning. The delegates from this end of the district will support him. The Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania delegates will be unanimous for him. It is expected that he will receive the support of the Caroline delegates and he has a large following in Essex and Westmoreland counties. He also has assurances of support from other parts of the district including the Eastern Shore.

NO LET-UP IN U-BOATS

German Reichstag Told Campaign Will Not be Restricted.

Amsterdam, May 13.—In a debate in the Reichstag last week on the second reading of the naval estimates, as reported in a Berlin dispatch, Herr Pfleger, Centrist, said on behalf of the main committee that even though there were differences of opinion regarding the political significance of the submarine war, the entire Reichstag was at one as concerned its military achievement. All held the view that the U-boat campaign should not be given up or restricted in any way, and that the construction of submarines should be promoted as far as possible. That was the opinion also, he said, of the highest government officials and the army and navy commanders.

Vice-Admiral von Capelle, minister of the navy, stated that unrestricted U-boat warfare meant a very strong naval offensive against the Entente.

"The reports for April are favorable," he added. "Naturally, losses occur, but the main thing is that the increase in submarines exceeds the losses. Our naval offensive is stronger today than at the beginning of unrestricted submarine warfare. That gives us an assured prospect of final success."

"The submarine war is developing more and more into a struggle between U-boat action and new construction. Even the British ministry and the entire British press admit that. The latest appeal to British shipyard workers appears to be especially significant. For the present, apparently, the appeal does not appear to have had great success. According to the latest statements, the British shipbuilding fell from 192,000 tons in March to 112,000 in April; or, reckoned in ships, from 32 to 22. That means a decline of 80,000 tons, or about 40 per cent.

"America thus far has built little, and has fallen far below expectations. Even if an increase is to be reckoned with in the future, it will be used up completely by America herself."

"In addition to the sinking by U-boats, there is a large decline in cargo space owing to marine losses and to ships becoming unserviceable. One of the best known big British shipowners declared at a meeting of shipping men that the losses of the British merchant fleet through marine accidents, owing to conditions increased by the war, were three times as large as in peace."

PLANS FOR PARTY TRUCE

West Virginians May Get Together On Congressional Elections.

A movement has been launched in West Virginia to bring about a truce between the Democrats and the Republicans in the fall election for members of the House of Representatives. At present West Virginia is represented in the House by four Republicans and two Democrats. The plan proposed calls for no Republican opposition to Representatives M. M. Neely, of the First district, and Adam B. Littlepage, of the Sixth district, the two Democrats, and no Democratic opposition to Representative George M. Bowers, of the Second district; Representative Stuart F. Reed, of the Third district; Representative Harry C. Woodyard, of the Fourth district, and Representative Edward Cooper, of the Fifth district, the four Republicans.

The election to name a successor to Senator Nathan E. Goff, Republican, is not involved in the proposal. For that office both the Democrats and the Republicans propose to name candidates.

Truces between Democrats and Republicans involving no opposition to members of the Senate and the House who are standing squarely behind the President and the prosecution of the war are being made in a number of states. The plan has been agreed upon in Virginia, in Minnesota, Iowa and several other states.

The Democratic state committee of West Virginia will meet at Parkersburg Wednesday and formally launch the movement. It is not definitely settled that the Republicans will agree to it on account of the plan to oppose the election of the Republican to fill Senator Goff's seat. The Democrats, however, declared they are going ahead with the idea, no matter what the Republicans may do, and it is generally believed the Republicans rank and file will fall in line for the movement regardless of what action the leaders take.

It is learned that a dark horse will be sprung by the Democrats for the Senatorial nomination. He is one of the most prominent business men of the state and efforts are now being made to obtain his consent to make the race. If he does run he will be given the nomination without opposition. It is understood that all the prospective Democratic candidates for the Senatorial nomination are willing to withdraw in his favor.

STORMS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

School House Struck by Lightning Just After They Had Been Dismissed.

Pottsville, Pa., May 13.—Five minutes after several hundred children had been dismissed from the Garfield school yesterday afternoon two of the minarets were struck by lightning and hurled to the pavement in one of the severest electrical storms which has ever visited Schuylkill county. Damage to buildings was general. Much hail fell, and the early fruit crop is threatened. Many fuses and switches were blown out.

Harrisburg, May 13.—A thunderstorm that broke suddenly over the city yesterday afternoon ripped off roofs, uprooted trees and blew down telephone poles, causing thousands of dollars' worth of damage in 10 minutes. The streets for hours were a maze of tangled wires and trees, and traffic was held up until workmen could drag the debris to one side. Telephone communications were cut off and manufacturing plants were forced to suspend for lack of power. The roof of the Shaker Hardware Company building was ripped off and blown against the Lemoine Trust Company building. Both buildings were badly damaged. Three dwellings in the city were unroofed.

Pottstown, Pa., May 13.—A furious thunder and lightning storm accompanied by a downpour of rain of cloudburst volume and a gale that tore off the limbs of trees, raged here Friday evening. There was also a fall of hail and it grew almost as dark as night. Much damage to young fruit trees is reported in the rural districts.

GERMANY'S GRAVEST CRISIS

Increasing Food Scarcity Menaces Morale of the People.

The Hague, May 13.—Germany is hastening toward a new crisis, its gravest. In its domestic, political, military and moral phases are all intimately connected. The morale of the German people, yearning for peace under increasing food pressure as never before, is being subjected to a tremendous strain, brought almost to the breaking point by the long intermission before the promised happy last act of the Ludendorff offensive.

Inspired German military critics industriously continue to try to divert public opinion into a semblance of optimism and enthusiasm for the resumption of the "Kaiser's battle." To revive the faith of the doubting and discouraged masses the critics reiterate the explanation that a long pause is inevitable in order to prepare for a general super-offensive.

General Baron von Ardenne, in the Tageblatt, tells the doubters that the long intermission also has been dictated by the course of events, including the possibility of bringing reinforcements to the west front from Rumania, following the signing of the peace treaty and the plan for the immediate commencement of an Austrian offensive against Italy.

Although there is every indication that behind the fog of talk the German highest leadership is preparing an unprecedented blow, the German people are much more absorbed again by their food troubles to listen to the military prophets. Germany has again entered upon the worst period of the food year. Whereas conditions were better during the past winter than in the previous one, they have grown rapidly worse, until there is no appreciable difference between the hunger of the spring of 1917 and that of 1918.

In addition to the spectre of a possible reduction of the bread ration, Germans are face to face with the real fact of a material reduction in the meat ration. While theoretically unchanged, twenty per cent of the imperial meat ration must be taken in sausage. In addition, several of the federal states have on their own initiative enforced measures which practically reduce the ration in order to limit the slaughtering of cattle that are emaciated to the bone after an almost foodless winter.

WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN

Tries to Rescue Letter Thrown From Passing Troop Car and is Ground Under Wheels.

Philadelphia, May 13.—In the presence of several hundred of her neighbors, Mrs. Joseph Tomlinson, 27 years old, was killed outright shortly after midnight yesterday morning by an express train of the Pennsylvania Railroad near Tacony station.

A large crowd of men, women and children, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, were lined along the west-bound track to see two troop trains go by. Their interest was due to the fact that one of the trains was carrying Field Hospital No. 2, composed of Frankford, Tacony and Holmesburg soldiers, from Camp Hancock, on their way to France.

When the first section went by a soldier, Mrs. Tomlinson thought she recognized as her husband, threw a letter from the car window, and the section of the train carried it to the west-bound track. She ran to get it, and at that moment the express train came thundering along, its approach drowned by the noise of the troop train. She was whirled down the embankment and killed.

The second section of the troop train came along an hour later. Through the appeal of C. M. Titus, chairman of Local Draft Board No. 34, the train was stopped at Tacony while a search was made through the cars for Tomlinson. He was found and notified of his wife's death, but the military officers aboard the train could not find him and he was carried on to the end of the journey, but was let off yesterday till after the funeral and arrived home last night.

The only other member of the family is a 4-year-old son, Joseph, Jr.

Father Hangs Himself.

Glen Head, L. I., May 13.—Charles Gehrk, a man of German descent, who has been melancholy since his son was drafted several months ago, was found dead, his body hanging by a rope from a cellar rafter in the summer home of A. O. Corey, son of William E. Corey, steel man, where he was caretaker. Gehrk was 45 years old, a widower, and lived in Roslyn.

Masked Men Rob Poolroom.

DYESTUFF INDUSTRY.

United States Now an Exporter Instead an Importer of Such Commodities.

Washington, May 13.—In less than three years the largest dyestuff industry in the world from the point of view of money invested has been built up in the United States. In that short period of time the United States has changed from being an importer to an exporter of dyes, and is now seeking still further enlarged foreign markets for this lusty infant industry.

What this means in relation to the war is that the United States has won a gigantic economic victory over Germany. The United States has smothered with overwhelming blows the German dyestuff monopoly on this side of the Atlantic. She has wrecked Germany's most profitable market for the products of one of her pet industries. She has cut Germany off from a source of prosperity which in the past has meant the employment of thousands of men and the reaping of millions of dollars of revenue.

When the war broke out in August, 1914, there was, broadly speaking, no such thing as an American dyestuff industry. On that date there were about half a dozen factories with about four hundred operatives. These factories turned out coal tar products to the amount of some 3,300 short tons annually. This was the American dye industry of ante bellum days.

At the same time we imported from Europe about 25,000 tons of dyestuffs each year. Of this amount, Germany supplied by far the bulk, or in the neighborhood of 22,000 tons. Our annual consumption of dyestuffs was 29,000 tons. We were abjectly subservient to Germany for dyes for our wools, our cotton and our silk fabrics. Today instead of half a dozen factories producing dyestuffs, there are well over one hundred and twenty-five, with something more than fifty more in various stages of organization and erection. Unofficial estimates are to the effect that more than $200,000,000 has been invested in the American dyestuff industry.

LIGHTNING SCARS BOY'S LEG.

Leaves Quarter-Inch Red Streak From Hip to Heel.

Albert Stinchcomb, 15 years old, of Benfield, Anne Arundel county, was struck by lightning Friday night, the bolt leaving a scar down his leg, from the hip to the foot.

His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stinchcomb, and nine brothers and sisters were in the room at the time, but all escaped injury.

The bolt struck about 7:15 p. m. in the heaviest part of the lightning storm, grounding just a short distance from the Stinchcomb dwelling. Albert was the closest to the window, standing sideways, and received the force of the bolt.

The shock made him unconscious and it was not until an hour and a half later that Dr. Thomas H. Brayshaw, of Glenburnie, was able to revive him. The boy is now in bed, but is rapidly recovering, the main distress being from the shock.

The lightning scar is about a quarter of an inch wide and vivid like the scar of a hot wire or rod.

KILLED IN SLACKER HUNT

Officers Pursue Members of Two Families in Border Mountains.

Whitesburg, Ky., May 13.—Government officers trailing draft slackers in the mountains along the Virginia-Kentucky border have killed the third man within the last few days and are still hunting members of the Mullins and Wells families who are armed and defy arrest.

James Tilden Mullins and one of his brothers were killed last week and it is reported that two more of the Mullins clan are being hunted through the mountains.

TO STOP RENT PROFITEERING.

Senator Smith (Md.) Puts Through Bill to Check Capital Landlords.

Washington, May 13.—Legislation to break up widespread "real estate profiteering" in Washington was passed by the Senate Saturday. A similar bill has passed the House. The Senate measure was put through that body by Senator John Walter Smith, of Maryland, chairman of the Senate committee on District affairs.

The bill, as it passed the Senate, fixes the rents charged October 1, 1917, as the standard of rents to be charged during the war. It provides a rent administrator, to whom tenants can carry complaints against the "profiteers." There is also created a board of appeals, to which appeals can be taken from the rent administrator. The bill was amended in the Senate, providing that no real estate man shall serve as rent administrator under the legislation.

The 100,000 war workers, who have been called into Washington have created an acute problem. As soon as the demand for houses and apartments exceeded the supply, landlords began to shoot up the rents. The result is that thousands of war-workers are spending every cent of money they earn to meet the high cost of living in the National Capital. The legislation which the Senate has passed has for its object the curbing of the practices of real estate men in asking exorbitant rents and the creating of a condition in Washington so that a man of moderate means can live and make both ends meet.

POLYGAMY ADVOCATES.

Declared by Germans the Only Means of Combatting Birthrate Reduction. London, May 13.—Scientific backing now has been found for the demand for polygamy in Germany. Copies of the Political-Anthropological Monthly to Berlin, received here, advocates polygamous marriages in the following words:

"The question of allowing Germans to have several wives must be considered very seriously, as it is the only remedy for the shortage of German fathers."

"This is a patriotic idea. Germany has lost a considerable portion of its noblest blood."

"A decent form must be found for this form of polygamy, which is the only way of combatting the birthrate reduction."

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Powerhouse Worker Struck as He Passes Open Window.

Elkton, Md., May 13.—During a severe electrical storm Friday night Robert Miller Pollard, 25 years old, employed by the Giffin Falls Electric Company, was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

Pollard had just entered the powerhouse and was struck as he passed an open window. He was unmarried and a son of A. N. Pollard, of the United States Army.

CONFER WITH KAISER

Great Importance Attached to Meeting of German War Lords.

Paris, May 13.—German Chancellor Count von Hertling and Foreign Minister von Kuehlmann arrived at German headquarters in the field yesterday morning, where the kaiser has been since Thursday.

Great importance is attached to the conference between the emperor, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, General von Ludendorff and the crown prince.

The chief topics of discussion were, besides the western offensive, the Rumanian peace, the situation in Austria-Hungary and the fate of the Prussian electoral reform, the rejection of which by the Prussian Diet is believed certain when it comes up for third reading tomorrow.

The German Catholic organ Germania says the right wing in the Reichstag wants Hertling shelved, in the hope that a strong man who will work hand-in-hand with the military party succeeds him.

Dr. Erzberger, the Centrist leader, has rallied about him the Socialists, and depends upon the Center and Radicals for support against the government.
